Because the firm has a small group of employees and turnover is minimal, we donâ??t actively recruit new full-time employees. As we expand, we look to our networks of known talent to find qualified candidates. We do, however, have a regular intern program for MBA students. We use interns for a variety of tasks, particularly focused on industry research and data gathering, under the guidance of senior bankers. This has proven to be a valuable experience for both the student-interns and Near Earth LLC.
